Antonini srl was founded in Empoli, close to Florence, in 1946 by Fosco Antonini. The company began as a small artisan business endeavor that manufactured equipment for hand and semi automatic made hollow glass articles. To meet increasing demands, Antonini specialized in supplying annealing and decorating lehrs. A rapid expansion abroad followed and the company demonstrated its high competitiveness affirming itself in the international market as well. Today Antonini srl is among the world leaders in the hollow glass branch and boasts the presence of over 1600 new installations worldwide.
